NO. 3719 VOL XIII. Registered at the Chinese P. O. for transmission "with special marks privileges in China"

自三初月九年五癸 SHANGHAI FRIDAY, OCTOBER 12, 1923 大正十二年十月十二日 第三種郵便物認可 10 CENTS

INTEREST in the market for China products on the part of consumers and buyers abroad continues to center largely in developments in sesamum seeds peanuts and wood oil. These have been of a bullish nature, prices remaining extremely steady.

With demand more active from Europe for sesamum seeds, the Chinese sellers have been "keeping up" their prices, although business in Shanghai has been difficult to put through owing to the variation between the buyer's idea and the seller's offer. In such circumstances the tone of the general list is firm, with demand here and there more active than before, though consumers in some cases continue to adhere to a very conservative course in making purchases.

The general sentiment in trade circles however, shows an improvement and a great deal of business that would in the ordinary course have been done in Shanghai is being diverted to Hankow and Tsingtao. For instance, Hankow has been successful in meeting buyers' ideas as regards price in sesamum seeds, and quite fair-sized transactions have been recorded there in this product for export to Europe London is a keen buyer of these seeds at £23 per ton c.i.f. Europe for October-November shipment, but the Shanghai rate of Tls. 7.60 and Tls. 7.70 per picul makes the rate equivalent to £24 per ton. Hankow exporters have been able to sell to London at $23 for shipment in October-November some 2,000 tons. At present there is a difference of some half a pound sterling per ton between the rate ruling in Hankow and the minimum that Shanghai can work at.

EUROPEAN PURCHASES

Europe is a large purchaser at present of sesamum seeds, but sellers are by no means plentiful. The buyers are not willing to improve their offers, and for the time being business in Shanghai in this commodity with the markets abroad is hanging fire. Arrivals are increasing and now average some two to three cars or 60 to 90 tons per day. Local stocks of these seeds are nil, the supplies coming in from the interior points being against contracts already closed and against shipments which have to be made. The arrivals are being tendered to the exporters, with result that there is extremely little for immediate shipment.

As in the case of sesamum seeds. Shanghai has not been able to execute the offers of buyers abroad for peanuts, and this business was done by Tsingtao. A thousand tons of peanuts is reported to have been done by the exporters in Tsingtao with Europe at prices ranging between £21.15 per ton c.i.f. Europe. The Shanghai rate is abnormally high for the buyers, being quoted at Tls. 8 per picul for spot cargo and Tls. 7.50 per picul for October-November delivery. The London quotation is around £21.15 per ton, which is about Tls. 7 per picul.

ARRIVALS SMALL

Arrivals of peanuts into Shanghai are very small at present, the farmers apparently recognising that it is needless to send down supplies here with merchants in Shanghai unable to accept the rates that are asked for. The yield from the crop just harvested, reported to be a good one, and the exportable surplus, in the opinion of those in the growing districts, is likely to be over ten percent better than last season. The United States does not show any interest in this product, but it is likely that very soon orders for peanuts for edible purposes will be received in this market from that center.

Rapeseeds is another product the trade in which is temporarily held up owing to a slight difference between what the Japanese buyers are offering and what the Chinese sellers are holding out for. Nine yen per picul is the Japanese buying rate, but the Shanghai quotation of Tls. 4.80 per picul make it equivalent to yen 9.10 per picul. No business has been reported. Stocks locally are small. We cannot sell to London as the gap between the two quotations is difficult to bridge. On the other hand, India has been doing a large trade with the United Kingdom in rapeseeds, shipments from India to the United Kingdom and the Continent during the first seven months of this year being about 17,000 tons more than in the same time last year.

DEMAND EXPECTED

As the local oil mills will begin to crush shortly a demand for peanuts locally should set in within the next week or so. In the absence of any supplies of peanut oil the merchants from Canton

Reduction Of Military Expenses Urged In Address

(BY UNITED PRESS)

Peking, Oct. 11.—Marshal Chang Tso-lin, in an exclusive interview given to the United Press today at Mukden, declared that he would "make no aggressive move toward the Chihli faction providing Peking does not take an aggressive stand toward Mukden."

"However," Marshal Chang continued, "in the event that the Peking government or any other government becomes aggressive, any move which they may make will be promptly and efficiently met.

"The election of Marshal Tsao Kun to the Presidency was manifestly illegal. I can see no chance for the success of his administration, but I earnestly do hope that he succeeds.

"Sir Robert Hotung's proposal for a reunification conference does not appear to me to be a promising one, because I believe that every leader will seek only the domination of the conference, but I will attend providing that the conference is a really representative one.

"Manchuria is prosperous and quiet and must remain so. While Manchuria is most interested in a solution of the question of the Chinese Eastern Railway and other Russian problems, these are matters which affect all of China and we must proceed with caution in order to guard the interests of the people."

England's Politicians Are Aroused Over Preference Proposals Of Government

Revival Of Fiscal Controversy And Vigorous Protectionist Campaign Expected To Result From Conference Announcement

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 10.—Sir Philip Lloyd-Greame's announcement at yesterday's meeting of the economic Conference of additional British preference on Dominions dried fruits has dispersed the apathy in domestic politics. There is every sign of a revival of the fiscal controversy and the parties are bestirring themselves. A vigorous Protectionist campaign is expected. The Conservative side will be countered by the Liberals. Some doubt exists with regard to the exact attitude of the Labor Party. Colonel M. Archer-Shee will move an emphatic Protectionist resolution at the forthcoming Conservative Conference at Plymouth. The Liberals contend that Mr. Bonar Law's pledge in the last election has been broken and that adoption of a wider scheme of preference will involve an election in the Spring.

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 10.—The Government's preference proposals announced by Sir Philip Lloyd-Greame are as follows:—

Empire grown dried figs, raisins, plums and currants will be admitted duty free. A new duty of 10s. 6d. per cwt. will be imposed on foreign dried fruit like apples, pears and peaches, and a duty of 5s. per cwt. will be imposed on foreign preserved fruits. Empire-grown products will be admitted free of duty for the present. The preference on sugar will be maintained for 10 years, and the present preference on tobacco will either be stabilised for 10 years or increased to one-fourth.

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 10.—Sir Philip Lloyd-Greame's preference proposals were quite unexpected. This fact and also the enormous length and the lateness of issue of the speeches at yesterday's meeting of the Economic Conference probably accounts for the absence of detailed comment in the morning papers.

The Times, the Daily Telegraph and the Daily Chronicle are silent. Others take the line to be expected from their well-known views. Thus the Morning Post, in an editorial article headed "A Step Forward," welcomes the beginning, though it be a small one, of a new hopeful policy in which our politicians will be forced by circumstances and opinion to go much farther.

The Daily Mail says that it is obvious that the British Government has decided to embark on a new policy of imperial preference, but it is not clear how and when the proposals will be carried out. The British people will expect to see a serious plan of action unfolded in the next few months.

In an editorial article headed "The First Dose," the Daily News declares that Mr. S. M. Bruce demanded full-blooded protection and Sir Philip Lloyd-Greme responded with proposals which must be utterly contemptible to scientific tariffists. Nevertheless there is no guarantee against extensive developments of the modifications proposed.

The Westminster Gazette asserts that it is already clear that the fiscal question was raised in an acute form and that this Government cannot be trusted to handle it. Free Traders must be watchful.

The Manchester Guardian says that the British Government, in reply to Mr. Bruce, offered such an increase of preferences as to ensure its defeat in a general election if one could be held. The proposals for Imperial development hitherto seem to consist mainly of plans for shifting the Dominions' economic troubles to the already over-burdened British tax-payer.

WILLIAM GARDEN IS ACQUITTED OF LARCENY CHARGE

Seaman Played Role Of Good Samaritan At Navy 'Y'

William Garden, a seaman on one of the American warships now in port, was acquited of the charge of larceny in a judgment handed down in the United States Court for China yesterday by Judge Charles S. Lobingier.

In acquitting the defendant Judge Lobingier held that the prosecution, represented by U. S. District Attorney Leonard G. Husar, had not proved that Garden had had the intent to steal the man's property at the time he took it from him, and so was not guilty of larceny. In view of the defendant's actions at the time it could not be called misappropriation either, Judge Lobingier held Mr. James F. Jones appeared for the defendant.

Judge Lobingier's complete decision was as follows:

"On Sunday morning, September 30, 1923, about four o'clock, the accused, while entering the Navy Y. M. C. A. building in Shanghai, found a man lying in the hallway in an intoxicated

Canton Customs Brokers Settle Fight With Sun

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Canton, Oct. 4.—The Customs Brokers' Guild of Canton, which suspended business on September 26 as a protest against a heavy fine imposed on its members by the Canton Superintendent of Customs for making alleged false returns with the intention of defrauding the Government, resumed business on October 2 through the mediation of the Commissioner of Customs. Instead of the fine, the Guild agreed finally to contribute a war fund of $40,000 and to offer a loan of $10,000 to the local authorities.

The restaurant keepers in Canton are still suspending business in order to evade the new war tax. Efforts are being made by the partisans of the present regime to induce the restaurant keepers to contribute a sum of about $22,000 annually to the Government for educational purposes and thus to escape the annoyance of tax-collectors. It is expected that the mutton dealers and fire-cracker manufacturers will likewise contribute some funds towards the expenses of the war to avoid having new surtaxes imposed on them. The latest taxes ordered in Canton include a surtax on brothels, an extra tax in copper cash on local river ferry passengers, and increased rates for boat licenses.

It is reported that Dr. Sun Yat-sen is so sure of the imminent fall of Waichow that he has already issued an order to Governor Liao Chung-hoi of Kwangtung instructing him to advise charitable institutions in Canton to have 10,000 piculs of rice ready without delay for relief purposes upon the surrender of the enemy to meet the requirements of the innocent sufferers within the city.

The Secretary of Reconstruction has instructed the board of directors of the Sunning Railway to hold an an election for a new chairman, the present holder of that office, Mr. Chin Gee-hee, having refused to carry out the demands of the military authorities.

It may be recalled that Dr. Sun recently ordered that the line should be taken over by the military in spite of the protests of the shareholders of the company. Dr. Sun claimed that the action was a purely military measure and would be readjusted when peace had been restored in the province. For a time the directors were willing to contribute a war fund of $300,000 in lieu of handing over the line to Government control. The railway is privately owned and has the reputation of being the only railway in China completely built with Chinese capital and Chinese engingeering, supervision and labor.

The Kuomingtang Party in Canton will hold a mass demonstration on October 10, the anniversary of the Chinese Republic, Labor and other public organisations are being invited to take part.

About $20,000 was realised for Japanese relief at a bazaar held recently in Canton. The sum will be turned over to the General Committee for remittance to Japan.

Dr. Sun Yat-sen has ordered Mr. Koo Ying-fan, his chief private secretary, to investigate and report on the work of the Salt Commission, the Provincial Finance Bureau, the Municipal Finance Department of Canton, the Provincial Land Commission, and the Canton City Police Department. These agencies have handled a large sum of public money recently, especially during the wholesale confiscation of temples and the sale of public lands and buildings to realise funds for war purposes.

WASHINGTON NOW COMMANDS U. S. ASIATIC FLEET

Destroyers Sail Today For Target Practice To Sink Quiros

A new Admiral's ensign was raised on the U. S. S. Huron, flagship of the U. S. Asiatic fleet, yesterday morning and Admiral Thomas Washington formally assumed command of the sixty or more American warships in Far Eastern waters.

Before Admiral Washington's flag was raised the ensign of Admiral E. A. Anderson was lowered and Admiral Anderson bade farewell to the officers of the fleet and left his flagship for the Palace Hotel, which will be his home until he sails for America on the President Taft.

The new Commander-in-Chief went out to relieve Admiral Anderson shortly before 10 o'clock yesterday morning. He was greeted by the senior officers of the American warships in port and the staff of the Huron as he boarded the flagship and was formally introduced by Admiral Anderson.

No salutes were fired during the ceremonial as the relief occurred in port where firing of big guns is prohibited. Had the transfer of authority been made at sea an Admiral's salute of 17 guns would have been fired as the flags were lowered and raised.

THIRD CRUISE

Admiral Washington began his third cruise in Asiatic waters when he assumed command of the fleet yesterday. He first came to Shanghai as an Ensign on the U.S.S. Alliance in 1889.

"There's some difference in Shanghai since then," the Admiral told a CHINA PRESS reporter "Then we had old opium hulks instead of docks, and then we thought the Race Course was away out in the country."

Admiral Washington made his second cruise in Oriental waters in 1902-03-04 as a member of the staff of Admiral Fighting Bob Evans, and then returned to duty in the United States that took him through various departments of the Navy in Washington and through the World War with the British Grand Fleet in the North Sea and in command of the Third Atlantic squadron.

The new Commander-in-Chief will remain in Shanghai another week before he sails for Hongkong and Manila on the Huron. He does not expect to pay his formal respects at Peking until sometime next Spring.

TARGET PRACTICE

The sixteen American destroyers now in port will begin sailing away from Shanghai this morning following the change in commanders-in-chief. The 38th division, which has been anchored off the Arsenal, will sail for Woosung this morning, remaining there until over the week-end. On Monday the ten ships of the 43rd and 45th divisions will sail.

The destroyers will hold target practice off the Chusan Islands en route South using the historic old gunboat Quiros, which has been condemned after many years service with the Spaniards, from whom she was captured, and up the Yangtsze, as a target.

After the Quiros has been sent to its sea-grave the destroyers comprising the 38th division will sail for Amoy and Manila. The ships in the other two divisions will go direct to Manila. Shanghai will then be practically deserted by American warships until next Spring when the Chefoo rendevous begins again.

RED CROSS UNIT RETURNS AFTER WORK IN JAPAN

Shanghai Contingent Did Excellent Work In Tokio

After three weeks of work among the injured earthquake victims in Tokio, the members of the Chinese Red Cross Unit which left Shanghai for Japan on September 8, returned yesterday by the steamer President Jefferson.

The unit was under the leadership of Dr. Way-ling New, well known local surgeon and a graduate of Cambridge university, and included five doctors—Drs. New, M. S. Tong, H. S. Chiao, F. S. Hua and M. S. Lieu twelve male nurses, four women nurses and three attendants.

The party left Yokohama for Tokio on their arrival at the former port and reported immediately to the Japanese Red Cross Society. They were assigned to work in the Red Cross Hospital at Tokio, which is supervised by Surgeon-General Saito.

Under ordinary circumstances the Tokio Red Cross Hospital contains 450 beds, but under stress of the emergency this was increased by 400. Most of the patients received were suffering from burns or from injuries received from falling buildings—

Retire Old S.V.C. Color With Impressive Ceremony

After flying for over half a century at the vanguard of the Shanghai Volunteer Corps, the veteran Colors of the local defense corps—presented during Taiping Rebellion days—were retired with fitting ceremonies at the Race Course yesterday, when the new Colors were presented to the troops by the Chairman of the Municipal Council.

The old Colors, which have seen eleven instances of the calling out of the Corps to defend the Settlement, are to be given an honored resting place in the chamber of the Council.

A large number of spectators gathered yesterday afternoon at the Polo Grounds to witness the passing of the old blue standard and the installation of the new banner, which is red. Both banners are the presentation of ladies of Shanghai.

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY

The ceremonial parade was under the command of Colonel W. F. L. Gordon, C.M.G., D.S.O., Commandant of the Corps. The men gathered at the Race Course at about 4:30 and shortly thereafter the Volunteers, in good strength, were lined across the Polo field for the ceremony. At the command of "troop" the Band marched at slow time to the tune of "Mandalay" before the frontage, and then countermarched to the tune of "The British Grenadiers."

"A" Company, pioneer unit of the organisation, in command of Major M. Reader Harris, M.C., with Lieut. A. W. Baldwin, color bearer, and escort, marched to the old Colors which were borne by Sergt. Canavaro, of the Portuguese Co., guarded by two sentries, at the right of the line.

The old Colors were received by Sergeant-Major C. S. Kemp, who brought them to the "carry" and then turned about. The escort presented arms and the sentries fell in on the flank of the escort and as the party moved off the whole Corps presented arms.

On arrival of the escort at its original position in the line it halted, the Colors were encased and were handed to Company Sergt.—Major of the Shanghai Scottish. Immediately upon the encasing of the old Colors Sergeant Hitch, of the Light Horse, brought out the new Colors, unfurled and at the slope, moving out from the center of the line and halting in front of the saluting base, where they was presented.

COLOR PRESENTED

Besides the representatives from "A" Company, British, the new Color escort included, Lieut. A. W. Hayward, color bearer, American Company; Portuguese Co. Shanghai Scottish; "B" Company, British; Customs Co.; Japanese Co.; Chinese Co.; British Infantry Reserves.

The escort then moved to the front for a short distance in the rear of the new Colors. Mr. H. G. Simms, Chairman of the Municipal Council, approached the Commandant and the general salute was accorded. Lieut. Hayward, took the colors from Sergt. High

PARIS SPURNS NEW PROPOSAL OF BERLIN IN RUHR TANGLE

Poincare Against Plan To Name Mixed Commission

Local Officials Making Progress, Premier Declares

(Exclusive China Press)

London, Oct. 11.—Premier Bruce of Australia, speaking at the Imperial Economic Conference today, declared that the future of the British Empire depends on the restoration of the economic health of the world. He added that the European problem cannot be solved by pronouncing commonplaces or passing resolutions. If the solution is not found, he said, the future of the British empire will be gloomy, indeed.

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Oct. 10—Herr Hoesch, the German Charge d'Affaires at Paris, this morning made a similar communication to the Quai d'Orsay to that made by the representative of the Reich at Brussels. The press understands that, in reply, M. Poincare pointed out that, negotiations being actually in progress between the French and Belgian occupation authorities and the local employers' and workers' organisations, there was no reason to add to these negotiations direct pourparlers between the Governments. The Premier added that now that passive resistance was on the way to cessation, if Germany had proposals to make, she ought to address them to the Reparations Commission, which alone, according to the terms of the Treaty of Versailles, was competent to take decisions with regard to reparations.

The Journal des Debats emphasies the distinction between the question of resumption of normal work and the settlement or reparations. With regard to the former, any negotiations would be superfluous and dangerous. The settlement of reparations is quite another question which concerns the Reparations Commission and the Governments.

The Temps, explaining the French point of view, declares that their reply made in Paris and Brussels puts no obstacle in the way of negotiations which might be opened in future between the Allies as a whole and Germany when resistance has ceased and when the Goverment of the Reich has made a proposal for payment. Far from barring the path which leads to agreement, the French Government is leading Germany back into that path.

The bill granting full powers to the German Government passed the first reading in the Reichstag with a majority of two-thirds of the votes. Ten Nationalists and Communists voted.

It appears that the industrialists of the Ruhr are renouncing the idea of lengthening the working day. Delegations from the Unions of the Ruhr at a meeting at Gelsenkirche were satisfied with denouncing the illegality of the emloyers' decision increasing the length of the working day of the miners, but certain elements have adopted a more aggressive attitude with regard to the employers.

For example, the Union of Christian Miners in the Ruhr have sent to Berlin a resolution demanding the immediate arrest of the proprietors of the mines for an attack on German labor legislation as well as on the Constitution of the Reich. In face of this situation, the proprietors of the mines have had the notices announcing the return of the pre-war working day replaced by new proclamations announcing that provisionally the length of the working day will not be increased and that negotiations will be opened immediately at Berlin between representative of the em-tion has taken the form of a brief telegram, forbidding Tsao Kun's agents from entering Manchuria. Following his election Tsao deputed Pao Kwei-ching, former Premier and Chao Yu-koo, Defense Commissioner of Tientsin, to approach Chang for recognition and sent the Mukden general a telegraphic announcement to this effect. In reply, Chang stated that he could see no necessity of having them in his province. At the same time, he has ordered the Peking-Mukden Railway authorities to ship them back to Tientsin without further orders if they were found on the train.

Peking, Oct. 10.—President Tsao Kun in his inaugural ployers and the workers for the settlement of the question. The occupation authorities are naturally entirely outside this conflict.

The news of the nomination of Prince Bulow as Ambassador in Paris, announced by the London Daily News, has up to the present not been confirmed in Paris.

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Oct. 10.—The German Charge d'Affaires called on M. Poincare today. It is understood that the latter refused the request of the German Government to participate in negotiations for the resumption of work in the Ruhr by the appointment of a mixed French, Belgian and German commission. The French claim that definite results in the negotiations between the local authorities in the Ruhr have already been obtained by the conclusion of an agreement with the Otto Wolff group and consider that participation of delegates from Berlin in the negotiations would only delay a settlement.

address remarked that previous Presidents had been handicapped by the absence of a National Constitution, but that in that respect he was more fortunate than his predecessors. He declared that urgent attention would be paid to education. Military and other expenses would be reduced. The new President hoped to unify the country by bringing together men of various talents. The country must fulfil her Treaty obligations and readjust foreign debts, thereby promoting friendly relations with the foreign Powers.

After the President had taken the oath and retired to the rest-room, Parliament subsequently carried out the ceremony of terminating the session.

This afternoon the President received congratulations from the Princes of the Manchu House and other notables.

A three-day holiday has been proclaimed.

Peking, Oct. 9.—It is reported that the Chihli Party is preparing for possible eventualities vis-a-vis Mukden.

It is stated that, as a counter-blast to the Fengtien manoeuvres outside the Great Wall, General Feng Yu-hsiang is to hold manoeuvres within the Wall near the Eastern Tombs, not far from Shanhaikuan. It is said that these manoeuvres will begin soon after tomorrow's ceremonies are over and that the 11th Division and two brigades will take part in them.

It is also reported that the 13th Division under General Wang Huei-ching is being sent to Haifengkow. Part of the Division is reported to have already left. A reason given for their departure is that they are leaving their barracks so as to make room for the troops that Marshal Tsao Kun will bring with him, but it is believed in other quarters that they are really going as a precautionary measure in view of possible developments on the Fengtien side.

TOKIO HEARS OF SLAYING OF 24 IN QUAKE RIOT

Police And Troops Charged Which Attempted To Create Disorder

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Oct. 10.—Following on the Amakasu affair, which continues to absorb the attention of the public, comes the belated publication by the Metropolitan Police Board of the news that the police in the suburban district of Kameido on September 1 and 2 with the assistance of military rounded up 1,300 "dangerous characters," including the local labor leaders, who were all detained at a police station.

It would appear that those arrested, resenting their detention or harsh treatment by the police, proceeded to create a disturbance, upon which early in the morning of September 3 the police and soldiers forcibly interfered, killing 24 persons with bayonets and disposing of the bodies by burning or drowning them.

Enquiries by relatives of those detained led to investigations by the judicial authorities, whose enquiry thereon to the War Office is reported to have elicited the statement that the facts of the case had long been known to the military authorities, who regretted that such things were bound to happen under martial law.

many suffering from both. At the same time there were a number of medical cases. The Chinese unit, under Dr. New, was given immediate charge of 40 beds.

"We got on well with the Japanese doctors and co-operated in every way possible," said Dr. New yesterday. "And the result was that our work was carried on smoothly. Two days before we left we were entertained by Prince Kanin at his palace and a group photograph was taken as a souvenir of the occasion. The doctors of the Red Cross Hospital and the nurses gave a farewell party the night before we left and on the morning of our departure the whole staff with whom we had been connected came to the wharf, in spite of a pouring rain, to see us off.

"Mr. R. Kurosawa acted as advisor to the Chinese unit and did yeoman service, deserving of the sincere thanks of the whole party. During our stay part of our time was devoted to the care of sick Chinese refugees in the refugee camps at Shidaura, where a large number of sufferers were concentrated.

"The Chinese Red Cross Unit left more than $3,000 worth of medical supplies with the Japanese Society in Tokio, as well as a check for Yen 4,000. In all the unit spent about Yen 15,000. The unit left when all the wounded were well on the way to recovery and there was no longer any need for them to remain."

As far as was ascertainable, Dr. New said, most of the Chinese victims were sent home and only about 1,000 were left in Tokio, these expressing the desire to remain there for the present. Among those remaining were about 300 students.

The conditions of Yokohama and Tokio when they arrived, Dr. New said, was indescribable, with buildings practically all levelled and scores of dead lying about.

During Dr. New's absence his brother, Dr. Way-sung New has been in charge of four or five local hospitals of which the elder Dr. New is ordinarily in charge, including the Chinese Red Cross Hospital. Much credit is due him for the efficient manner in which he has carried on this work.

Vocation Plus Avocation Makes Good Singer

Margaret Merle Works in Stock During Summer So She'll Sing Better in Winter

Margaret Merle has a vocation and an avocation. Winters she prefers the vocation, which is ballad singing. Summers she joins a stock company and begins her avocation, which is acting.

"No, it's not that I'm particularly energetic," she denied, smiling. "As a matter of fact, I can't keep up my vocation without my avocation. Because today, if you'll notice, songs are no longer sung, they're acted. Or at least they must be acted as well as sung if they're to get over.

"The modern audience wants motion, zip, something doing every single minute, and the singer who doesn't give it will soon find herself off the boards. Take this cunning thing I'm rehearsing now, 'I'll Hop, Skip and Jump Into My Mammy's Arms.' I sing and suit the action to the words. It never fails to get the house. And I learned the secret during my stock-playing summers."

condition. The accused (he says with the help of a Chinese policeman stationed there) lifted the man up and, in the policeman's presence, removed the contents of the man's pockets, consisting of a watch, chain, cigartte case and money. The accused says that he took these intending to check them for the owner at the Y. M. C. A. but finding only a Chinese attendant there, decided to keep them for the owner until he became sober.

"As the accused was about to enter a ricsha for his ship the Chinese policeman arrested him and, as he showed unwillingness to go, summoned other police and took the accused to the station where he called attention to the articles he had taken and said they belonged to a friend. In explanation of this he stated at the trial that he considered all who frequented the Y. M. C. A. as his friends.

"From the police station the accused was taken to the American Prison and charged with larceny. An essential ingredient of that offense is the actual intent to convert the property to the offender's own use at the time of taking it.

"If such an intent does not exist at the time of the taking, neither its formation afterward nor any subsequent appropriation of the property can make the larceny complete." (1).

"We think it abundantly clear, that, in order to constitute larceny, the appellant must have intended to appropriate the animal to his own use, at the time he first took possession of it; and that a conversion in pursuance of a subsequently formed intention would not make him guilty of larceny." (2).

"Evidence of a hiding of the article or of a disposing of it, afterwards, though only a very short time afterwards, is evidence of the intent then existing, in a mind that, perhaps, has just yielded to and been overcome by the temptation produced by possession and a reluctance to surrender what had not been dishonestly obtained." (3).

"We are disposed to agree with counsel for the accused that, had the latter's intent from the beginning been to appropriate the property to his own use, he would hardly have proceeded to execute that intent with the police officer before him. A felonious intent is invariably accompanied by concealment and avoidance of observation. Added to this is the conceded fact that the accused never claimed that the property was his and stated at the first opportunity that he was holding it for another.

"It is true that the two police officers at the station say that defendant, on arriving there, stated that he had been "caught." He says that he does not remember so stating but in any case we do not regard this as necessarily an admission of guilt. It might have been no more than a recognition that he was arrested under suspicious circumstances. Nor have we overlooked the fact that defendant, after finding the drunken man, changed his purpose of spending the remainder of the night at the Y. M. C. A. and started for the ship. Such a change of mind may well have come after the property was in his possession in which case, while he might be guilty of some other offense, he could not be convicted of larceny.

"In view of defendants open and unconcealed conduct at the time of taking and the other circumstances mentioned, we are unable to find that he then had the felonious intent of misappropriation. Under the law as above stated he is accordingly acquitted with costs de officio."

OFFER PRIZES FOR CHINESE PEACE PLAN

Weekly Review Executive Bok —$2,500 For Reunification Idea

The China Weekly Review of Shanghai announces in its issue of this week two prizes amounting to $1,500 for the best and most practical peace plan for China. The person submitting the best plan is to receive a prize of $1,000 and the one submitting the second best plan in the opinion of the judges will receive $500. In the announcement of the competition the editor of the Review states that a number of Americans, Britons and Chinese are cooperating with the Review in the prize offer and that the competition is open to all Chinese and also the foreign residents of China. Manuscripts containing the suggestions for solving China's internal political troubles must be in the office of the Review by January 1, 1924. They may be written in either English or Chinese.

Under the heading, "Suggestions to Contestants," the editor of the Review states that, "persons desiring to submit plans for the solution of China's internal political problem should remember the important element of practicability, which means a consideration of the actual conditions which exist in China; the adoption of a workable constitution; control of communications; maintenance of internal order affecting the lives and property of both Chinese and foreigners; reconstruction of China in accordance with the hopes and ideals of the statesmen of the leading nations as expressed in the deliberations and results of the Washington Conference."

In an editorial in the same issue of the Review, it is stated that the prize offer has no connection whatever with any political party or individual and that it is "hoped that the competition may contribute a little toward a settlement of the present disturbed internal status of China by concentrating the attention upon some definite and practical plan."

The Judges who will read the manuscripts will be of American, British and Chinese nationalities and the names of the foreigners and Chinese cooperating with the Review in the offer of the prizes will be announced at the close of the competition.

MASON AND DOYLE ADDRESS ROTARY; COL. GORDON NEXT

Curio And Publicity Form Topic At Weekly Meeting Yesterday

Jack Mason and J. Edward Doyle spoke before the weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club yesterday at the Astor House. Curios and publicity were the subjects of their respective talks.

Mr. Mason, in his address, took occasion to rap the Canton Government for the excessive taxation being placed on all the trades, which, he said, was bound to affect the price of curios. He pointed out the disappearance of invaluable pieces of curios recorded in history and read a list of jade, gold, silver, bronze, coral and other specimens owned by Ho Shen, prime minister of Chien Lung, whose private property was valued at Tls. 900,000.

Mr. Doyle had some concrete suggestions to make with reference to giving publicity to the doings of the organisation. He proposed that representatives of all newspapers be invited to all open meetings, that members send more contributions to the Pagoda, the official organ of the club and that members representing firms advertise more generously in this publication.

Colonel Gordon, commandant of the S. V. C., will speak on the service of the Corps to the Settlement at the next regular meeting which will be open to the friends of the members, according to the announcement of Mr. A. R. Hager of the program committee. Mr. Roy Chapman Andrews, head of the American Asiatic Expedition, who is expected to arrive here in a few days on his way to America is scheduled to speak at an early date. Preparations are being made for a "Father and Son" gathering shortly.

EMILE LANDAU

Boy Hero Fails To Save Chinese From Drowning

Emile Landau, the 18-year old son of Mr. A. Landau, made a brave attempt to save the life of an olderly Chinese in the Whangpoo river Wednesday afternoon but failed despite the fact that he dove twice into the water at great personal peril.

Young Landau, who is a Special Constable and a Public School boy, was at the jetty when the Omi Maru sailed. An old Chinese man, coming from the vessel, stumbled on the gangplank and fell into the water. Landau immediately dove in after him and later made another attempt but the Chinese never came to the surface. The body was afterwards recovered down river.

Landau is the holder of several cups for exceptional proficiency in shooting, swimming and boxing.

HANGCHOW MOB WRECKS HOMES OF TWO M.P.'S

Crowd Takes Drastic Means To Show Disapproval Of Election

Hangchow, Oct. 10.—The homes of two Hangchow Parliamentarians who participated in the recent election in Peking were wrecked today.

In observation of the Double Ten Festival, a mass meeting was held to protest against the election of Tsao Kun as president.

Following the meeting, a number of participants marched to the home of Parliamentarian Chang Fu-yuan at 64 Hua Shih Road, broke down the doors and wrecked everything in sight. Then the same crowd went to the home of Chow Hsueh-hung, another Chekiang solon, at 120 Wan Kiang Men Road, and ruined it too.

After the damage was completely done, the mob marched away, cheering for the Republic.

(Exclusive China Press)

Tokio, Oct. 11.—The Navy department today issued a statement in which it declared that while the losses of the Japanese navy as a result of the earthquake disaster were considerable it did not think that the naval power of Japan had been weakened.

BRAZILIAN IS ACQUITTED IN ASSAULT CASE

Sino-Brazilian Club, However, Is Ordered Closed

Adolph Weingarten was acquitted of the charge of having assaulted Jacob Bournstein with a knuckle-duster at the Sino-Brazilian Club, 111 Northern Szechuen Road on September 12, in a decision handed down yesterday by Mr. V. Meyer, judge of the Brazilian Consular Court, but the club was ordered closed.

The alleged assault, which has created considerable public interest, was alleged to have occurred during a brawl at the club following a gambling game. Bournstein received injuries from which he was forced to go to hospital.

In his decision Mr. Meyer holds that the quantity of the testimony is sufficent but that not so much could be said for its quality. The court, he said, was satisfied that the complaining witness was ejected from the club but is in doubt concerning the extent of Bournstein's injuries and how he came by them.

Two witnesses, the court said, testified that they had seen the accused strike Bournstein, but equally creditable testimony was to the effect Bournstein had merely been escorted to the gate and shoved out, falling and injuring himself on the sidewalk. The police produced no weapon.

THE VERDICT

Continuing the decision says:

"The Court, while it may be satisfied that an altercation did occur in the course of a card game at the Sino-Brazilian Club at the time mentioned, as the result of which Bourstein was ejected, is in doubt as to whether an assault was committed on Bournstein by the accused, and, whether, if such assault was committed, the accused used a weapon of any description. Under those circumstances the Court feels constrained to app'y that doctrine which is recognised as the law of all civilized countries, that one accused of crime is presumed innocent until proven guilty, and further that the proof of guilt must be such as to leave no reasonable doubt in the mind of the court. Here, as has been said, there is still that doubt,—that uncertainty of mind, after a thorough review of all the evidence.

Mr. H. R. Snyder appeared for the accused and Mr. E. T. Maitland for the prosecution.

China Products

have not been able to make any purchases. The rate is nominal at Tls. 15 per picul. American buyers are still holding back. A report from Georgia states that while there is a larger acreage in peanuts in that State than last year there is no likelihood of any increase in the production of oil, as the confectionary trade and whole nut manufacturers are expected to take large quantities, leaving the usual amount of culls and cracked nuts for oil production. Refined edible oil is listed in America at 15 cents gold per pound. The American trade is waiting for the new oil to come on the market.

A very small trade in horse-beans is being done with Japan, but stocks appear to be almost exhausted.

The market for soya beans is very firm, the rate being Tls. 3.70 per picul. The Dairen market is steady at round yen 5.40 per picul Europe has been showing some interest but there is a difference in price ideas with the result that business is not large. The quotation in Shanghai is Tls. 3.70 per picul. A fair amount of buying is going on in soya bean oil and also in soya bean cakes, the price of the latter being Tls. 1.24 per piece. There is a small demand for soya bean cakes, but arrivals are poor. The market is fairly quiet.

The film depicts the work, in detail, being done in Palestine to establish the Jewish National homeland, under the aegis of Great Britain.

The film has been sent out to the local Zionist body by the Zionist Organisation in London and has been shown in 22 countries. In every country where it has been shown the impression created has been noticeably strong and the general opinion has been that with the assistance of England the Jewish homeland would become an accomflished fact. The development recorded in the film should prove of great interest to the general public here.

BOB FAVACHO TO BE SEMI FINALIST AT STADIUM SHOW

Tingle And De Dios Ready For Fray Tomorrow Night

Manager Sullivan of the Stadium announced last night that the semi-final scrap on tomorrow night's card, when Billy Tingle tangles with Faustino De Dios, will be an eight round go between Terry McManus, of Brooklyn, and Bobby Favacho. This mill will be an eight round affair and as Jim says the McManus person is a first class scrapper it ought to provide a kick or two for the pop eyed fans.

The preliminary card for tomorrow evening's party has been completed and Jim says it contains numerous possibilities.

As to the big match, both boys report that they are in fine fettle. Both have been training faithfully and are prepared to show the best merchandise they have in stock.

On account of the jinx party at the Columbia Country club tomorrow night the fights will be started a bit earlier than usual, and the whole program will be speeded up in order to bring the main eventers on early.

Two good bantam boys from Manila will soon arrive in Shanghai to join the rest of the Filipino boxers who are now here appearing in the Stadium. They are known in ring circles in Manila as Young Gonzalo and Kid Moro. Both boys are main eventers in the Philippines, Young Gonzalo being practically the only worthy bantam left in Manila, due to the departure from that city of Billy Tingle, Leonardo Garcia, Faustino de Dios, and Pete Sarmiento.

Gonzalo fought a sensational draw with Garcia just before the latter sailed for Shanghai, and has since been cleaning up the bantam division there. He has also met Billy Tingle.

The Kid is known to be always an attraction in Manila, and in his last fight in the Cebu Stadium won the bantamweight title for the Southern Philippines.

Both boys are expected in Shanghai before the end of the month and will join the stable of boxers now managed by J. P. Lopez. The latter is now trying to make arrangements for fights for the visitors. A trip to Australia later on is also being planned.

POLICE SPORTS ENTRIES GROW; ATHLETES TRAIN

Entries for the annual Police Sports, to be held at the Race Course November 3, are coming in and all indications are for a gratifying number of keenly contested events—particularly those open to athletes generally.

Many prospective victors are to be seen daily training at the Race Course and at Hongkew Park for the various events, and it is noticeable that a good number of these have not yet filed their entry blanks. The committee requests that all entrants send in their names without loss of time.

Two Shanghai championships and at least a dozen additional open events will be run off this year at the Police gymkhana and as the meeting is to be in the nature of a charity affair, in consideration of the recent Japan disaster, it is expected that both the entry and attendance records will be broken.

In addition to the events already advertised it has been suggested that a walking match should be included and the honorary secretaries would be glad to receive further applications or suggestions in this connection.

Entrance blanks may be secured by application to the secretaries, Messrs. H. MacGregor and E. A. Eva, care of Central Police Station, who have been working strenuously to make the sports an unusually successful affair.

S.F.C. Teams To Play Football Tomorrow

Two S. F. C. football teams, under the names of "Whites" and "Colors," will play a practice game at the S. F. C. ground tomorrow, play starting at 3 o'clock. All playing members are requested to turn out, as teams will be chosen on the ground.

Crowds Cheer As Donoghue Sails For Match Race

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 10.—Steve Donoghue sailed on board the liner Olympic today from Southampton. He will arrive in America three days before the Papyrus - Zev match. Crowds at Waterloo cheered him, and a woman presented him with a mascot.

Donoghue, in an interview, declared that Papyrus was the best tempered horse he had ever ridden. He himself would ride for the honor and glory of the Union Jack.

Before sailing for America Mr. Irish the owner insured Papyrus for £75,000 and Bar Gold his stable companion for £50,000. All the fittings of Papyrus's Newmarket stable were dismantled and entirely reconstructed on the boat so that the horse would feel at home. A Black cat and its newborn kitten, which have also been living with Papyrus were also his travelling companions.

It is interesting to note that before Papyrus sailed, Mr. Sol Joel made Mr. Irish a big offer for the Derby winner. It has also been said that a large American syndicate will bid for Papyrus should he be successful at Belmont Park, but it is hoped that Mr. Irish will give prior claim to any proposal that will mean Papyrus settling down in England.

CHINESE BASKET BALL TEAMS GET READY FOR PLAY

T. B. Chang Re-elected Chairman Of League; To Start Next Month

Representatives of five basketball teams attended the preliminary meeting of The Chinese Basketball League yesterday afternoon at the Physical Department of the Chinese Y. M. C. A. The session took a little more than an hour, but during that time many questions were decided.

T. T. Zee, secretary-treasurer of last year's league and now a team member of Shanghai College, made a brief report of the league's doings last season.

T. B. Chang, of the Physical Department of the Chinese Y.M.C.A. was re-elected as chairman of the league, and K. S. Chang was elected as secretary-treasurer. Dr. Gray, the veteran basketballer of the Bearcats team in the foreign league was again invited to be the advisor of the league.

It has been definitely settled that the league will start the championship series in the first part of November, about a month later than last year's series, and the games will be scheduled with definite official referees. The following gentlemen have been chosen to be referees, and the officers of the league will approach them to request their co-operation and help to officiate the games: Dr. Gray of the Y. National Committee, Mr. Kwong of the Y. Day School, Mr. Hussard of the Navy Y, Mr. Roy Squires of the American School, Mr. Baldwin of the Walk-Over Shoe Co., and Mr. Ritter of the Nantao Institute.

Three school teams and two association teams were represented in the meeting. The Shanghai College was represented by T. T. Zee and W. Y. Yuen, Fuh Tan University by Sam Hocking (Coach), and L. Tung (Manager). St. John's by C. T. Zung and Y. K. Er, the All Whites by S. M Pan, and the Amateurs by K. S. Chang. Nanyang did not send down any delegate, but it is hoped that they will join the league and that their representatives will be present during the next meeting. A new team with the name of The All Blacks which has been rumored of having considerable strength will probably also join the league.

TITLE MATCH IS STOPPED WHEN FIGHTERS STALL

Mickey Walter Suspended By New Jersey Commission

(Exclusive China Press)

Newark, N. J. Oct. 10.—The fight between Jimmy Jones recognised by the New York State Boxing Commission as the world's welter-weight champion, and Mickey Walter, generally conceded that honor in other states, for the world's title, was stopped at the end of the ninth round here tonight.

Chief Boxing Inspector Adams of the State Boxing Commission issued a statement after he stopped the fight in which he alleged that neither fighter was making a real effort to win and that it was necessary to stop it in the interests of good and clean sport.

No decision was given in the match.

Walker and his manager were later suspended for one year by the Boxing Commission because of the charges Inspector Adams laid against him.

and they were then handed to Mr. Simms by Major S. A. Ransom, American Company, the second in command. They were then handed back to Lieut. Hayward and the parade again presented arms as the Colors and escort resumed their position in the line.

Greeting the parade Mr. Simms said:

"Colonel Gordon, Officers Non-Commissioned Officers and men of the Shanghai Volunteer Corps. I deem it a great honor as the representative of the Shanghai Foreign Settlement to have this opportunity of addressing you on the occasion of the presentation to you of new Colors.

"The Volunteer Corps has a record of which any community would be proud. From the earliest it was borne in upon its residents that the peace and good order of the Settlement in a large measure depended upon themselves. It was for this reason that the Volunteer Corps was formed and it is for the reason that it exists today. Yours is a long and honorable record and may it continue so.

"The community takes a great pride in all the phases of the work connected with your duties as a Defence Force of this Settlement. And how thorough that training has been is evidenced by the smartness and efficiency shown by all rank and parade this day.

HONOR OLD FLAG

"Your Color, which you have borne so proudly was worked by the ladies of Shanghai, and was presented to you some fifty years ago. It has been well cared for by you until today, when its replacement has become necessary. This old Color, it is now intended, shall be placed in a position of honor in the Administration Building, and to you I now commend the new Color being confident that you will guard and cherish it as you have done with the old and that it will always be an emblem of your devotion to duty.

"Colonel Gordon, I congratulate you, on the high standard of efficiency that has been attained by the Corps and on behalf of the community I wish to thank all ranks for the time they give and the high esprit de corps which is so much in evidence here today."

Colonel Gordon replied briefly and the Corps then marched past the saluting base and were afterward dismissed.

Secrets

Miss Niqua Lewis is a very clever young woman! I have often heard that woman is a creature of infinite variety. Last night this little lady gave us a series of impressions that were both convincing and sincere.

She started away as an old dame in the 1922 period, with a breath of the Victorian age. She skipped back to the Sixties and Seventies. She rallied in the late Eighties, and then came back to last year.

Quite a big range to cover. Miss Lewis dominated the situation whenever she was on the stage. As a matter of fact she was the one outstanding study of a quaint play.

It was Fay Compton who played the part in London. She is still playing it. She is being supported by Leon Quartermain—brother of the Charles Quartermain who was so successful here a little while ago as "Shylock" and "Svengali." What a part for Leon Quartermain in "Secrets! There is very little to it. It ranges from light comedy to thorough melodrama.

There is little sympathy to be extracted from it. The part in the hands of Mr. Frederick Burtwell was neither sympathetic nor appealing. He seemed to dress the part badly. He raised a smile when he should have raised the hair. He was most effective in Act 3.

This play "Secrets" is proving a tremendous success in London. It has the merit of having an idea. It rather reminds one of "Milestones." It isn't quite in the same class. It starts at the other end. We begin in 1922. Then the heroine sleeps and takes us back through the years. It is a matter of "Backward, turn backward, Oh Time in thy flight—and let me see the black and the white of things."

What a difference there is between the girl of today and the damsel of yesterday! "Secrets" will chiefly be remembered by the will chiefly be remembered by the atmosphere that Miss Niqua Lewis created throughout the play. She was the girl of Yesterday all through. It was in that perfectly charming speech that formed the greater part of the "Epilogue," in which she demonstrated that she fitted a difficult part, that the actress proved supreme. There were a number of people in the cast, but it was Miss Lewis that carried "Secrets".

It is late in the evening, and I haven't yet made up my mind whether I like the play or not. There were good bits, and bits not so good, but Miss Lewis proved to be "the goods." That was all there was to it.

The play will be repeated tonight and can be recommended as a show that will call for laughter, some thrills, and at times a few tears.

It is tragedy-comedy, comedy-melodrama, a pretty story of the "Herald" style.

Catholic Congress Meets In Austria

IN HE members of the Frontkaempfers, an Austrian war veterans' association, are shown passing in review before Chancellor Seipel, in the recent Catholic Congress held in Vienna. The Frontkaempfers are organised along lines similar to those of the Fascisti in Italy, opposing the growth of radicalism and socialism. A clash between the veterans and the Socialists, in Vienna, resulted recently in many casualties.

No Time Set For Depositions In Kearny Cases

No definite time for the taking of the depositions of Admiral Tu, Commander-in-Chief of the Chinese Navy, in the first Kearny arms case, or of Civil Governor Chang of Chekiang and Magistrate Hu of Hangchow, has as yet been set according to information received last night. All three depositions are wanted by the defense in the Kearny arms cases and the decision of Judge Charles S. Lobingier in both cases is held up pending the taking of their testimony.

CHANGSHA HONGS HIT BY GUNFIRE; PROTESTS FILED

American And German Consuls Ask Protection For Nationals

(Independent News Service)

Changsha, Oct. 4.—The American and German Consuls here have lodged their protest with the present Governor, General Chao Heng-ti, against the damage done on American and German firms by bullets shot from time to time by Tan Yen-kai's troops from the opposite side of the river. The protest states that the Changsha government of Hunan should be responsible for the protection of the life and property of their nationals in Hunan.

General Tan Yen-kai came to Hengshan on the 1st of October to discuss peace terms with Chao Heng-ti through Tan's own friends, Fan Ting-yin and Wu Chien-shiu. The armistice has been extened to the 10th of October the national holiday, after which date if no peaceful settlement is made, heavy fighting is expected.

Communication between this city and the opposite side of the river, now occupied by troops of Tan Yen-kai, has been cut off with the result that people in Yungwanchih, a village on the opposite bank, have to go without salt, as they formerly procured it from here. People here are no less affected by the suspension of train service between here and Hankow. The price of almost everything is soaring, and rice and coal are particularly affected. The state of war existing here has caused considerable alarm, it seems, all over the trading centers having connections with this city, and merchants are hesitant in shipping goods.

The low water season will be on shortly, and foreign steamers of the large type would have to cut their sailings to this city. That would mean complete isolation of Changsha from the outside.

A House Of The Dead

BY E. T. RAYMOND
(Editor, The Evening Standard)

Twelve years ago the House of Lords—or rather those who used the House of Lords, and wanted to make it a sharper weapon—played for a very high stake.

If the gamble had succeeded nothing short of armed revolution could have prevented the peers becoming the most powerful element in the British polity. For there can be no such thing as equality between an indissoluble chamber and one which is liable to dissolution. Make the former not inferior, and it will infallibly, and in a very short time, achieve a decisive superiority.

Had Mr. Asquith failed in 1911, the House of Lords would now be well on its way to practical omnipotence. With its loss of effective power the status of the House of Commons would have been automatically reduced. A seat in that House would have become of less consequence to a private member and to a Minister it would, in many cases, have presented the aspect of a positive disadvantage. A peerage would have become the desire, instead of the nightmare, of statesmen in their prime. Everything would have tended to convert the Upper House into the seat of authority and the source of legislative initiative, while the representative chamber would have slowly but surely shrunk to a mere debating body, chiefly useful as a training ground for young ability.

But at a roulette table, where the possibilities are so great, loss means not inconvenience but simple ruin; and the Peers who were encouraged to "damn the consequences" have been learning piecemeal ever since how disastrous the damned consequences are.

The King's passing over of Lord Curzon carries the dismal process of enlightenment a long step forward. It has been laid down, as clearly as if heralds had shouted it from the steps of St. Paul's Cathedral, that henceforth no peer, however able, experienced, industrious and virtuous, can hope to control a British Cabinet. And this, of course, means that the heirs of peers in the House of Commons—an always numerous and a frequently talented body—must in future live in constant peril of political extinction, or something very near to it. At any moment the death of a relative may summon them, in a political sense, to their own last long home. It is as cruel as suttee.

For the withholding of the Premiership is only a symbol of much wider things. The same considerations which made Lord Curzon impossible as Prime Minister will operate to exclude from the House of Lords the more important Cabinet Ministers. A peer will no doubt still be considered desirable at the Foreign Office, and not objectionable, in quiet times, at the War Office, the Admiralty, or the Ministry of Agriculture. But wherever there is a probability of stress and strain the claims of the House of Commons will be preferred.

This sterilisation of the House of Lords must soon become intolerable to itself, and already there is a renewal of all the old suggestions for giving the peers the best of both worlds. Some are proposing, as Lord Rosebery did forty years ago, that a peer, if he likes, may declare himself politically a commoner. Others are suggesting that Ministers shall have, as in some Continental states, the right of sitting and speaking in both Houses.

Both are excellent suggestions, which would have been adopted long ago but for one reason—the people would not stand them. The first plan means that a peer is to have all the advantages of being Lord Richard, Lord Thomas, or Lord Henry, and also all the advantages of being plain Tom Dick or Harry. The second plan means that Governments will be able to avoid by-elections and keep in the position of masters of the public men whom the public may detest and distrust. Ask the first working man you meet what he thinks of either proposition, and he will signify his opinion in the usual manner. He will call it cheek. You will be fortunate if he does not say exactly what sort of cheek it is.

The plain fact, though with the usual English shrinking from logical conclusions it is not faced, is that the House of Lords is a dying institution. It is not dying of disease, for which a cure might be found. It is rather in the position of the great lizards of old time, which vanished because of a change of conditions, climatic or otherwise, to which they were unable to adapt themselves. The advances of Labor is the political analog of the cold wave which destroyed the the Jurassic dinosaurs.

So long as the country was politically divisible as Conservative and Liberal it was possible to admit a certain representative character in the House of Lords. Its moral strength, it is true, was ebbing all through the nineteenth century, and sank rapidly after the Home Rule split had so greatly added to the disparity of the two parties in the House. But until now the argument could not be advanced that the peers did in some sort represent the community in its more sober moods. There were not many Liberal peers, and their Liberalism was not very pronounced. But still there were Liberal peers. There are no Labor peers, and Labor opinion in its mildest form, is to seek in the Upper Chamber.

This was adduced, in the semi-official explanation, as an all-sufficient reason for the preference of Mr. Baldwin's claims over Lord Curzon's. The public was given to understand that it was not a question of a mere balance of advantage on the side of the commoner. Any commoner, it would seem, is to be preferred to any peer, because there is no Opposition in the House of Lords and to have the chief spokesman of the Government in this House would be a monstrous absurdity. But it does not seem to have been realised what this argument implies. If it be a striking absurdity to have the chief spokesman of the Government in the House of Lords, it is an absurdity only less in degree to have any other spokesman there.

Probably nothing will be done until the practical difficulty arrives; that is our way. But there will be no harm in thinking over a problem which may at any moment be formidably upon us. If nothing can be done—and, after all, what can be done?—to fit the House of Lords, which has been for a century a steadily growing anomaly, to actual and easily possible conditions, what is to take its place in our polity? Sir Robert Peel, in meeting his problem in 1846, said it was "no easy task to insure the united action of an ancient monarchy, a proud aristocracy, and a reformed constituency." One wonders what language he would have to describe the present difficulty.

Morocco War Film Is Shown In Paris

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Oct. 10.—Films representing various recent operations in the pacification of Morroco are being shown at the Geographical Society of Paris. The films were taken by the Cinematographic Service of the Army. In this connection the Temps expresses its regret that the Minister of the Colonies, who is detained by his duties in Paris, cannot be present at the inauguration of the last section of the Thies-Kayes Railway. The journal emphasises the importance of the completion of this line, which will unite the rich region of the Niger to the ocean, allowing the development of cotton and oil production and an outlet for it to the sea and facilitating the work of colonisation.

Your Baby's Hair
Needs
Your Attention!

Children are suffering from infection of the scalp just as grown up people, especially in hot weather.

Inflammation of the pores of the scalp often affecting the roots of the hair may bring on a multitude of ailments and lead, in later years, to dry and dull hair, dandruff and falling hair. The liberal use of especially during hot weather, will wonderfully stimulate a luxuriant growth of soft, silky, fluffy hair. Children's hair responds easily to 'GERMOL', for it is nature's way. It feeds the roots, keeps the scalp flexible and serves as an invigorating tonic to the hair. 'GERMOL' is effective on young and old alike. Try a bottle without delay, you can find it at your chemist.

'GERMOL'
FOR THE HAIR

Asia Banking Corporation

October 11, 1923

Spot bar silver in London is up ¼d. and forward ⅛d. today as compared with Tuesday, last day on which we did business. The New York price in the meantime has advanced to 63⅞ cents and the London-New York cross rate has declined to 455.

Our official Sterling rate here this morning was raised to 3s. 0⅝d., the Gold Dollar rate to 69¾, the Yen rate dropped to 70½ and the other rates changed accordingly.

Our market in the early part of the day was steady but eased off in the afternoon. In the moring business in Sterling was done at 3s. 0⅞d. for October, 3s. 0⅛d. November and 3s. 0⅜d. December. Gold Dollars were done at 70 for near and forward deliveries.

However, speculators became strong buyers at these rates and at the close the market was easy with no sellers of Sterling at better than 3s. 0⅛d. October, 3s. 0⅜d. Novemberand 3s. 0⅛d. December.

The best sellers of Gold Dollars were offering 69¾ for near and forward deliveries. There were sellers of Yen at 70 for near delivery and 69⅞ for forward.

Banks were quoting 3s. 1½d., 71½ and 1190 for Sterling, Gold Dollar and Franc bills respectively.

India bought silver in London yesterday and the day before and the market there is reported as steady. There was no business done in the New York market.

Chinese Infections Disease Hospital Does Fine Work

More cases handled and fewer deaths than ever before were reported with the closing of the Chinese Infectious Diseases Hospital in Thibet Road. The annual report gives great credit for the splendid year's work to the Board of Directors, and to the medical staff composed of Doctors V. L. New, W. S. New, Y. S. Nyi, C. Y. Yui, C. W. Loh, C. F. Nee, S. C. Wong, S. H. Chiao, Zau and Yu.

During the height of the cholera epidemic Drs. New invented an apparatus to keep saline at the constant required temperature, which proved of the greatest benefit in the work.

There was a total attendance during the year of 2,290 of whom 1,033 were in-patients and 1,257 out-patients. Transfusions were given in 333 first cases, 73 second, 30 third, and 10 fourth. As compared with 70 deaths last year only 54 occurred this year.

Among in-patients 356 suffered from cholera, 275 from pseudo-cholera, 114 diarrhoea, 57 dysentery and 51 malaria. Among out-patients 464 had cholera, 327 pseudo-cholera, 308 had diarrhoea, and 283 dysentery.

Chinese Engineer Society Meet

The Shanghai Section of the Chinese Engineering Society held their monthly meeting at the Far Eastern Hotel of October 9. Fifteen members present. The meeting was presided by the Chairman of the Section, Mr. C. S. Young. A dinner was served which was followed by a short business section. Secretary, Mr. S. C. Ling read the minutes for last meeting. Mr. A. C. Barnes, the lubricant engineer of the Texas Company, was then introduced by the Chairman to give a talk on lubrication.

Mr. Barnes gave a general outline of different types of oils used nowadays and the manner in which the various oils are obtained from the crude. He emphasized particularly on the importance of making proper selection of oils for machinery and of using the oils in proper way after they are selected.

Children Do Not Fight Against Baby's Own Tablets They Are Easy To Give and Pleasant To Take.

Children require special medicine of their own, made of such ingredients only as cannot possibly do them harm, and put up in exactly the right dosage to produce without loss of time the desired effects.

Baby's Own Tablets precisely answer this description, being absolutely free from harmful drugs or opiates, and equally safe and helpful to the infant in arms as to the child of six years or more. Furthermore, they have the advantage of being tasteless, pleasant in appearance, and free from all the horrors associated by children with castor oil, senna, Gregory powder and similar nauseating medicines.

Baby's Own Tablets are a promptly efficacious remedy for infantile indigestion, constipation, colic, diarrhoea, simple fever, croup, colds, teething troubles and worms. Almost like magic they bring calm health-giving sleep in a natural way. Your chemist sells Baby's Own Tablets, or post free, 60 cents per vial, from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 60 Kiangse Road, Shanghai.

The Soft-Spoken Bolshevik

THE Vorwarts, organ of the German moderate Socialists, published in Berlin has just discovered and published a detailed plan apparently given out to German Communist leaders for winning over reactionary army officers, both in service and retired, to collaboration with the Bolsheviki. This is a policy already enjoined on German Communists by Missionary Bishop Radek, representing the Russian headquarters of the faith; extreme Right and extreme Left work together to overthrow moderate democrats and moderate Socialists, with the struggle against the French in the Ruhr as the immediate excuse. The minimum objective is described as the keeping out of "the coming civil war" as many as possible of the reactionary nationalist military elements; the maximum, the inducement of some of these sabre-rattlers, whose military value is admitted, to go over to the Reds when they strike for the mastery of Germany, and to help them hold the power after they have won it.

The Bolshevik feeling his way toward collaboration with some mustached general of the old regime is advised to establish personal connection through somebody who isn't a member of the Communist party, if possible an officer of the old army. "The greatest care" is enjoined. Don't go too far or too fast; above all, don't be bigoted.

"Get around, so far as possible, the points of difference arising from the limitations of Communist theory; emphasise to the utmost points on which both can agree—the fight against Poincare and against the middle classes in Germany. The manner, in the conversations, must be courteous and amiable in the highest degree. (Call him "Your Excellency," and so on.) Don't intrude quotations from Marx. Say as little as possible about the party program, but deal as much as possible in personal compliments."

These personal contacts are to be supplemented by discreet propaganda designed to affect the entire officer class. Perhaps needlessly, the document explains: "This is not to be connected in any way with the propaganda already conducted among the rank and file, which is quite different in both purpose and content." High military positions are to be promised in the good times coming. "Speculate on ambition," says the document, "but not too coarsely."

To the bourgeois reader this is merely amusing, but the orthodox Socialist naturally finds it not only treasonable but sacrilegious. Count Reventlow, once the chief of the teeth-gnashing reactionaries, has been writing appeals to German Nationalists to work with the Reds. Paul Froelich, a Communist, holds out a welcoming hand in the Bolshevist press. "Call him 'Your Excellency' seems to be the rule," says the infuriated orthodox Vorwarts. "Not less than half a dozen times we find the address 'Herr Graf' in this article devoted to the class struggle."

But in view of the refusal of Moscow actively to help the German Bolsheviki, it is evident that if Germany is to go Bolshevist, she will have to do it all on her own.

Gee, we'd have an awful time of living up to the name of Washington if we were in the Navy!

Diphtheria—How It May Be Avoided

Diphtheria is usually contracted when the child has a cold. The cold prepares the child's system for the reception and development of the diphtheria germs. When there are cases of diphtheria in the neighborhood children that have colds should be kept at home and off the street until recovered. Give them Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and they will not have to remain at home long. It also cleans out the culture beds, which form in a child's throat when it has a cold, and minimizes the risk of contracting infectious diseases. For sale Everywhere.

:-: Russia Today :-:

BY CLARE SHERIDAN

In view of the new Russia that is rapidly evolving out of its social and economic chaos, the question uppermost in the minds of international business men is: What are the prospects of Russian trade?

One sees that the Soviet Government is no longer in absolute power, that its existence is now beginning to depend on its compromise with the peasants.

The future prospects of Russia therefore, no longer depend upon the Bolshevik. What then are those prospects?

A certain amount of bluff still misleads those who are not well informed. For instance, the report of a very important German investigation reveals the fact that for German firms "the possibility of resumption of trade with Russia can now be discussed in spite of the rigorous state monopoly system. For, notwithstanding the terrorizing decrees of the Soviet Government, big foreign firms receive more and more help from the Soviet Government."

A certain "tendency" toward the monopoly of the state in the question of foreign trade can be explained by a present existing reaction in some circles against any big developments of private initiative, from the fear of being too much dominated by foreign capital. Such fears exist among the extremist group of Bolshevik, who see in every little initiative of private capital an imperialistic offensive.

This same official report relates that in far-seeing circles, on the contrary, there is a fear that the linking of economics with politics (and as a consequence of this, supporting the monopoly of the state) arrests the natural development and evolution of the country This fact is understood even by Krassin, who in principle is a great supporter of the system of state monopoly. But he understands perfectly well now that it is dangerous to support and that modifications must be introduced.

DROPPING STATE MONOPOLY

The Soviet Government constantly reiterates that State monopoly was introduced as a direct result of the Imperialistic Brest-Litovsk Treaty, and on account of the economic blockade by the Entente. In the official Bolshevik press Boris Stein, the commercial representative of the Russian Government, openly states that the system of State monopoly is not a dogmatism of the Soviet Government.

It certainly seems reasonable to suppose that a Government that has made concessions to Lord Curzon and compromised with the Patriarch, and in a hundred ways descended from its high communistic tone, will concede something also for the sake of encouraging the all necessary foreign trade.

There, is every indication of this in the pages of the Soviet press, as well as at Soviet conferences, where more and more one reads and hears that the Soviet Government is going to introduce certain liberties for trading, although without entirely cancelling State monopoly! It is therefore supposed, at the present moment, that the Government will introduce a more liberal economic life, and this would be analogous to the state of Russia before the decrees of Dec. 29, 1917 (when restrictions of private commerce were introduced). Mr. Landau, chief of the concessions section of the Supreme Economic Council has declared very categorically that this council will come to the assistance of foreign capital.

ENCOURAGING COMMERCE

The Soviet Government intends to facilitate by all means the granting of visas for foreign commercial people, and repeatedly discusses the enlarging of commercial liberties and licenses.

In spite of the facilities prevailing for foreign trade, Russian policy is tending toward protectionism. This is due to the fact that Russian home industry must be helped to its feet, even if it necessitates a slower recovery and development of the country. Obviously Russian industry must be protected from foreign competition. Therefore, one may see in the near future an enforcement of customs restrictions. By doing so export will be artifically enlarged and import curtailed. Although this will create some economic difficulties, commercial balance will become active. By arriving at an active commercial balance, the Russian Government hopes to reinforce the Soviet edifice!

The great financial difficulties as well as the lack of current capital in industry are regarded by the Government as a great danger for the country, therefore the industrial circles of Soviet Russia insist on introducing foreign capital. Against superior force and dire necessity the Extremist Party will have to give way. The burden of taxation that has been imposed upon the country results in the fact that the Government cannot collect them and therefore lacks money. All of which, according to the very important official report that I have quoted, leads to the conclusion that extremism cannot last long.

EXTREMISM ON SHAKY LEGS

The retirement of Lenin has placed extremism in a very difficult position. The lack of balancing influence is felt, of an influence which was recognsed by all, and which would have solved the tense position of the moment. It was an influence which would find ways and means in which the economic evolution of the country could be directed. Without Lenin there is no authority. Development of foreign trade, however, will proceed favorably by interior evolution, if there is no exterior pressure, and this is neither in the interests of Russian trade nor of a settlement of European equilibrium today.

Although the forthcoming agricultural and co-operative exhibition in Moscow cannot represent the real condition of Russia, it has great value for the binding of Russia with Europe. The participation of Germans in this exhibition is being particularly welcomed by the Soviet Government, and every effort is being made to facilitate the transit of German contributions. In the way of German and Russian relations lie huge difficulties, but it is evident that Germany is being treated with exceptional consideration by Russia. Stomoniakoff, the Chief of the Soviet commerce delegation in Germany, returned recently to Moscow to take part in discussions dealing with the long existing plan of amalgamation of the commissariats for foreign and interior trade. Stomoniakoff brought with him a large list of concessions for foreign firms, and especially for German ones.

GERMAN MIDDLEMEN

Meanwhile the German Ambassador in Moscow, Count Brokdorff-Rantzau, has arrived in Berlin to enlarge the basis of the Rapallo treaty and increase the numbers of German consulates all over Russia. The prospects of Germany as middleman for Russian trade is illustrated by the huge efforts that are being made by Koenigsberg to be ready when the flow begins.

Before the war Koenigsberg port was a great Russian warehouse. Today, standing empty and waiting, are two wheat warehouses that have harbored 40,000 tons. The Koenigsberg wheat elevator, called "silospeither," is the greatest on the continent.

Export from Russia was so great that the German Government projected the building of five artificial harbors, three of which were built during the war and one is a "porto-franco." The present Government, in spite of the dire economic plight of Germany, has made super-efforts to finish the building of the others. and this will provide a harbor front of 4½ kilometres. This new commercial free harbor will be opened to the world in 1924. The plan is that raw stuffs coming from Russia will pass from ship to factory and be converted into manufactured goods free of taxation before being reshipped for further export.

Koenigsberg as a harbor may have Baltic rivals, but as an aero port she is certainly unique. A glance at the existing aero routes reveals Koenigsberg as one of Germany's chief nerve centers. These routes are:

Koenigsberg, Smolensv, Moscow, Harpoff, Rostoff, Novorosisk, Tiflis, Bakou, Teheran.

Koenigsberg, Memel, Riga, Helsingfors.

Koenigsberg, Dantzig, Warsaw, Lvoff.

Koenigsberg, Berlin, Leipsic, Munich (and from Munich branches to Vienna, Budapest Bucharest and Constantinople).

Koenigsberg, Hamburg, Bremen, Amsterdam, London, Manchester.

And Koenigsberg to Petrograd is about to open.

There are plenty of scoffers at the idea of possible trading with Russia, and Germany as a middleman may be looked upon by some as the blind supported by the blind. But the blind have sometimes been known to recover their sight.

More Truth Than Poetry

BY S. E. KISER

My Uncle David owns a farm out on the Hicksville pike;
The travel there has grown until you never saw the like;
On Sundays and on week days, too, the cars pass up and down,
All filled with lucky people who can get away from town.

They've killed off Uncle David's ducks, his chickens and his geese;
The speed fiends and the noisy trucks have nearly wrecked his peace;
From dawn till late at night they pass, the wicked and the just;
The air is always full of gas and oily smells and dust.

My Uncle David's farm was once
a most attractive place,
His orchards bore good fruit, but such has ceased to be the case;
In recent years the weeds have grown in meadows that were fair,
The fences have been overthrown,
the barns show lack of care.

The rusty harrow and the plow lie out behind the shed,
There is no clover in the mow,
the old gray mare is dead;
The harvest hands have gone to town in search of higher pay,
The good old farm is running down, its charm is blown away.

But Uncle David has a crop of billboards that is great;
They line the road for half a mile, they loom beside the gate;
As soon as he can rent the small and few remaining gaps
He, too, will move and leave it all—with few regrets, perhaps.

Measuring Of The Heat Of A Star On The Earth

"Is it true that astronomers can measure the heat received by the earth from a single star in the sky?—Reader."

* * *

Yes, it is true, Dr. C. G. Abbot of the Smithsonian Institution has, for instance, recently measured the heat coming from the star Capella, which may be seen flashing low in the northeast in September evenings. This star, one of the most beautiful in the character of the radiations that it sends out. It is, however, a much larger sun than ours, but being nearly 2,500,000 times as far away the effect of its radiation as compared with that of the sun is reduced in the inverse ratio of the square of 2,500,000 to 1.

Dr. Abbot found that its heat is equivalent to one-horse power distributed over an area equal to that of the State of Minnesota, whereas the heat from the sun is equivalent to one-horse power of energy distributed over twenty square feet. On the whole surface of the earth exposed to it at one time, Capella sheds an amount of heat equivalent to five hundred horse-power.

Stated in another way, if the total quantity of heat received upon the earth from Capella could be concentrated at a single point and completely utilised there, it would suffice to drive a 500-horse-power engine. But the sun though actually smaller than Capella, yet because of its relative nearness gives us a hundred billion times more heat than we get from Capella.

It is estimated that from all the stars in the sky, taken together, the earth receives about 250,000 horse-power of radiant energy. This seems large if we are not careful to note that it is distributed over an entire hemisphere of the earth. When we introduced that consideration we see that the amount at any one point must be exceedingly slight.

In fact the thermo-electric instrument employed by Dr. Abbot to measure the heat of Capella was so sensitive that it responded to a hundred-millionth of a degree of temperature and a trillionth of an ampere of electric energy.

It is interesting to reflect that if the sense by means of which we recognise heat was as delicate, and as concentrated, as that which responds to the radiations producing light we should be able to perceive the heat-rays of individual stars just as we actually perceive their light rays. Capella, Sirius, Arcturus, Aldebaran, Betelgeuse Aigel, Antares, Spica, and others, would each be recognisable by the peculiar quality or amount of its heat radiation, as now each is recognisable by the intensity or color of its light.

We should faintly feel the Milky Way streaming across the heavens as now we dimly see it, or rather we should both see and feel it. When Sirius rose flashing above the eastern horizon its presence would suddenly be manifested to us by the heat ray reaching us simultaneously with the light beam. They reach us simultaneously now, but we are aware only of the light except when we employ some instrument of extreme sensitiveness to enable us to perceive the heat also.

We have remarked that the amount of heat received from the whole host of the stars is only about five-hundred times as great as that which Capella alone sends. Yet there are hundreds of millions of stars, and many thousands of them are much greater than Capella. If they were all as near as Capella perhaps we should perceive the effect of their united radiations even without the aid of extremely sensitive instruments. But the very large stars are also very remote, many of them being so far away that telescopes are required in order that we may see them at all.

If a star a thousand times as great as Capella in radiant energy is only as much as thirty-two times as far away, it sheds upon the earth no more light or heat than does Capella. This fact arises from the law of inverse squares which governs the effect of radiant energy at varying distances—a law that lies at the very foundation of astronomy.

The larger star being thirty-two times as far away, has one divided by the square of thirty-two, i.e., 1-1024, of the effect on the earth, unit per unit, that Capella has; but since it possesses one-thousand times the intrinsic radiant power of Capella, the two accounts balance one against the other.

What Women Wear

The mere repetition of the names of the shades of green that women are wearing and dressmakers are advocating is as soothing as the sound of cracked ice against glass on a humid day. Cress green, lettuce green, cucumber green, lime and unripe lemon, creme de menthe—frocks of these colors may not actually ward off more of the sun's rays than reds or yellows or purples but they are psychologically cooler, and that is the important thing in clothes. There is a new shade of green that has been worn in Paris with considerable acclaim and this is sometimes described as mustard. Dressmakers must rechristen it to make it welcome.

Green is never launched as a fashionable color without some misgivings. French designers will tell you that they can never get their South American customers to wear much green. There is a prejudice against the color among Latin Americans based doubtless on the fact that it is not usually becoming to the rather sallow pallor of most women south of Panama.

Recently the statement was made by an English dressmaker that the new greens did not receive popular acceptance in Great Britain—because of the superstitious prejudice there against wearing the color. Perhaps the shamrock had something to do with it.

No such barriers seem to stand between American women and the verdant shades.

Green recommends itself for all hours on the clock's dial. It is as acceptable under the glare of a noonday sun as during the gloaming, as refreshing on the golf course as under the glow of candle light at dinner—as appropriate for dancing frocks as for tennis. At least there are shades of green that have all those possibilities.

With green the smartest combination this season will undoubtedly be white. Green and gold, green and silver, green and rhinestones have prevailed for evening wear during the winter.

The prediction that white linens and cottons boldly printed in green, and white hats embroidered or otherwise trimmed in green, will be extremely smart for day-time wear is worth taking seriously. The essential thing is to keep the contrast clear and distinct and to avoid the intricate and confused patterns that detract from the essential crispness of the color.

Green tafeta is cleverly used in the frock shown in the sketch—a frock with an amusing little apron tunic that sags downward in front, and a white organdie collar built on the lines that we call Second Empire.

Green taffeta frock with full gathered apron tunic. There is a white organdie collar.

The Myth Of Old Age

The notion that a man is through with his life and ready to be laid on the shelf when he has reached the shady side of fifty is pure myth, "such stuff as dreams are made of," says the New York American.

This is the reverse side of that extravagant cult of youth which is largely made up of an over-appreciation of the material and sensual values of life.

If the worth of life is to be measured in terms of the spirit, there is no reason why the years after fifty should not be the very richest.

The other day John A Stewart, the active chairman of one of New York's most important financial institutions, celebrated his one hundred and first birthday. He is still going strong and getting a good deal out of life for himself and for his friends.

George F. Baker, the chairman of the First National Bank, is eighty-three years old and is of considerable importance in the financial life of the city.

E. H. Gary, who holds down perhaps the most important job in the whole country as chief executive of the United States Steel Corporation is seventy-five.

John D. Rockefeller is eighty-four and Andrew Carnegie died when he was eighty-five.

A recent article by B. C. Forbes gave an extended list of men who are actively engaged in great matters in this country and yet are of advanced age.

Perhaps whether a man is done for when he is past fifty depends a good deal on what life is supposed to mean. Certain it is that judging life by its spiritual qualities, by the force and value of mind and not of body, that period of time beyond fifty is of the most importance.

Every Morning at Breakfast take a draught of SANATOGEN

This will give you that extra nerve-energy which makes you feel "fit" and fresh all day and it will save you from Heat prostration

SANATOGEN in the morning means a better day's work—means that you feel brighter, fresher, and keener all day, in spite of the exhausting heat, while your powers of resistance to typhoid, cholera, dysentery and nervous disorders will be enormously increased.

TRY IT!

SANATOGEN'S power to increase nerve-energy has been definitely proved, in the words of Sir Charles A. Cameron. C.B., M.D., etc. President of the Royal Institute of Public Health:—

Sanatogen is an excellent nerve-food of the highest nutritive value, easily and completely digested.

GET A BOTTLE TO-DAY

ALL CHEMISTS SELL SANATOGEN

Never forget that Sanatogen is a food, not a medicine or a "secret remedy." It increases nerve-energy by feeding the nerves—not by goading them with drugs or stimulants. Its action is as natural as that of any ordinary food: it must do good, and it cannot do harm. That is why doctors give it even to babies. And that is why so many Europeans in the East take Sanatogen regularly, all the year round—not as an occasional "tonic," but as a part of their daily diet. You should do likewise, if you want to keep your nerve-energy at the highest pitch, and to avoid the debilitating effects of the great heat

Sungei Duri Rubber Estate Meeting

The thirteenth annual general meeting of the Sungei Duri Rubber Estate, Ltd., was held yesterday afternoon at the offices of the Secretaries and General Managers, Messrs. A. R. Burkill and Sons, 2 Canton Road. Mr. N. G. Maitland presided.

After the notice convening the meeting had been read, the Chairman spoke as follows:

Gentlemen: I shall be glad if you will allow me as usual to consider the annual report and accounts as having been read. The report and statement of accounts are set forth so clearly and in such detail that I think it is hardly necessary for me to make any lengthy comment upon them. Although it was anticipated, when compulsory restriction came into force in November last, that costs would be higher, it is interesting to note, as you will see from the report, that costs on Selama Estate show a fractional decrease over the preceding year's figure. On Sungei Duri the cost was slightly higher, this being due to the reduction of crop and the higher cost of supervision owing to the expense entailed by the engagement of an assistant manager during the Manager's absence on home leave. Still, I think you will agree that both properties are producing at as low a figure as can be reasonably expected and that the "all-in" cost of 7.48d. per lb. compares very favorably with the results attained by other estates in the neighborhood.

There is little regarding the working of the Estates that calls for any special remark. As a preventive to disease, work in the nature of clearing the non-producing area of surface timber on Selama Estate was completed over an area of 72 acres and will be proceeded with over a larger area during the current year. On Sungei Duri, pests and diseases were almost negligible. Both properties were kept in a clean weeded condition and as regards labor we have ample for all requirements.

Turning to the accounts, it is with great pleasure that the directors are once again able to place before you what may be considered a very satisfactory account of the year's working. The net profit for the year amounted to Tls. 40,771.06 which, added to the amount of Tls. 28,351.09 brought forward from last year's accounts, makes a total of Tls. 69,122.75 standing to the credit of Profit and Loss Account. With regard to the disposition of this amount, the directors recommend the payment of a dividend of Tls. 0.85 per share which will absorb Tls. 34,000; write off Development and Asset Accounts a sum of Tls. 12,356.82 and carry forward the balance of Tls. 22,765.93 to next year's accounts. The financial position of the company, as you will see from the accounts is very sound and if present prices are maintained, I see no reason why we should not look forward to an equally satisfactory result next year.

The output for the current year under the Export of Rubber (Restriction) Enactment from our two estates is 231,353 lbs. and it is estimated that costs will be in the neighborhood of 30 Straits cents per pound, including Shanghai expenses.

A forward sale of two tons monthly, July-December, 1923 at a price of 66¾ cts. per lb. f.o.b. Singapore has been made.

Recent advices from the Straits indicate that both Estates are in excellent condition and I would therefore like to record our appreciation to Mr. Adair and Mr. Debieux for the efficient management of their respective estates during the year. I regret to say that the last named gentleman, who has been connected with Sungei Duri for many years, has left us to take up the management of a larger estate and I am sure you will join me in wishing him every success in his new position. Mr. Mackie, who was in charge of the estate during Mr. Debieux' absence on leave and whose work has been very favorably reported on, has been appointed manager.

Before putting the resolutions to the meeting, I shall be pleased to answer to the best of my ability any questions shareholders may wish to ask.

The following resolutions were passed:

That the Report and Accounts for the year ended June 30, 1923 as presented be accepted.

That the amount at credit of Profit and Loss Account, viz: Tls. 69,122.75 be appropriated as follows:

	Tls.
To pay a dividend Tls. 0.85 per share (10%)	34,000.00
Write off Buildings and Furniture	38.19
Write off Motor Vehicles	900.25
Write off Development Account	11,418.38
Carry forward to next year's Accounts	22,765.93
	Tls. 69,122.75

That Mr. Hugo Reiss be re-elected a Director of the Company.

That Messrs. Lowe, Bingham and Matthews be re-elected auditors to the company at an annual remuneration of Tls. 300 for Shanghai and Penang.

Economic Parley Useless Now Is Coolidge's View

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Oct. 10.—President Coolidge today said that he saw little or nothing to be gained from an endeavor to hold a world economic conference. The American Government would rest on its proposal to the European nations that an international commission should be formed to ascertain Germany's ability to pay reparations, but no further steps in that connection would be taken.

Status Of Tangiers Debated At Parley

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Oct. 11—At the close of a meeting in London today of the British, Spanish and French experts, charged with establishing the basis of an agreement regarding the status of Tangier, a communiue was issued announcing that they had established the broad lines of a text, which, in the opinion of the Government, will serve as a basis of discussion at the conference of plenipotentiaries charged with elaborating a definitive status.

Czech President Will Visit Paris

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Oct. 10.—President Masaryk will arrive in Paris on October 16. He will be received at the Gare du Bois de Bologne by the President of the Republic, the Presidents of the Chambers and the members of the Government.
